Hyatt has opened new doors to the world of painting. His coaching has dramatically improved my skill and confidence. He is a truly gifted artist and teacher, willing to share his knowledge in a nurturing and creative environment. I recommend his coaching to any artist searching for ways to improve their skills, at their own pace, and in the style of their choice.

—Sue Jarecky, architectural illustrator, Laguna Festival painter

Three years ago I was lucky enough to stumble upon Hyatt Moore's beautiful oil paintings and I asked him if he might give me a few lessons. Since then I have been a regular student. Hyatt has been the most generous and skilled teacher I could ever have hoped for. With his wide knowledge of painting and its techniques, he is able to bring even a seasoned painter to a new level in a very short time. He is generous in imparting his many and varied techniques.

—Judith Anton, abstract painter, shows in New York, Tokyo, So. Cal

Hyatt is inspirational and sensitive in working with each individual to help them to develop their unique style. Besides growing in my painting I've learned much just being in his studio and seeing his body of work unfold each week. He is a generous and gifted teacher as well as an amazing artist.

—Antje Hamer, textiles, tile, sculptor and painter

I so enjoyed my first coaching session with Hyatt. His words of encouragement and purposeful instruction left me wanting more.

—Linda Lawler, plein air painter

In just a few sessions Hyatt showed me how to loosen my brushstrokes and have a more 'painterly' style.

—Tom Herrington, painter

A most comfortable person to be around. The best money I've ever spent on instruction.

—Donna Baden, painter
