Paintings Placed
2020

Hyatt Moore

The one-hundred and eleven works shown in this book represent most of the paintings that found new owners in the year 2020. Of these, some were painted the year of their placing, others years before. While size dimensions are not supplied, it's a record of what went where and to whom.

With the exception of two placed through a gallery, all transactions were directly from artist to collector. A small number were gifts or contributions, some painted expressly for that purpose.

The representation here is not indicative of new works created during the same twelve months. What it does show is the wide variety of my artistic interests in terms of subject matter and application of style. Except in the case of commissions, and even for some of these, the choice of topic and approach come solely from the whim of the artist on entering the studio on any given day.

Continually exploring new things is part of the joy of painting. I am grateful when someone makes a purchase; it affirms they see the value. Making a living at making art is part of the fun, and it somehow makes it all more real.

This is the first visual accounting of all the work placed in a year. Whether there will be others, time will tell. For now, I'm grateful to present these, and to take pleasure in what has been made and gone out into the world, adding in a small way to its beauty, and to the satisfaction of their new owners.
